PROFILE SUMMARY

I am a developer with 6 years of hands-on experience in frontend and mobile development. I build high-performance mobile applications using React Native / Expo, and scalable, modern web solutions with Next.js and Node.js. With 5 hackathon awards (2 first-place and 3 second-place finishes), I have proven my ability to deliver fast and accurate solutions under high pressure. I take a solution-oriented approach focused on analyzing business needs, designing the right architecture, and delivering sustainable, long-term value. I am a strong team player with excellent communication skills, who takes ownership and contributes proactively to shared goals.

PROJECTS

Biberber (Ios, Android, Web)

- Biberber is a user-friendly mobile application where users can discover barbershops around them and make online appointments. Barbers can manage their services, working hours and appointments through a single panel.

NoteMap (Ios, Android, Web)

- NoteMap is a mobile application where users can leave location-based notes on the map and interact anonymously with other users in the area. Users can also personalize their profiles by choosing special characters, thus experiencing a safe and fun social experience.
